FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK.....

Pharmaceutical education and Research, in India, is shaping up impressively in the recent times. Number of educational institutes offering pharma education are increasing all over India, testifying to the fact that, Pharmaceutical education and research has gained tremendous importance. Ever since, National Institute Ranking Framework (NIRF) was introduced, existing reputed colleges are striving hard to get on to the top of the list. In this quest the institutions are concentrating on providing quality education and research. New establishments entering the education systems have to compete with the giants for their share in the system. The new entrants should therefore pull their socks from the beginning and lay stringent quality measures for their institution. The institution should focus on various ranking and accreditation systems to build a sustainable, competent and quality educational organization. A healthy growth does never mean only academic results, but it also means a wholesome growth which include extracurricular activities, sports, personality development and building communication skills.

We, at P.A. College of Pharmacy, are motivated not only to provide quality education but also to create competent, confident and skilled professionals. Our focus is 'to be among the leading professional training and research institutions in the field of Pharmacy in India and to become a leading educator in pharmacy in the region. With this motto we have been conducting various programs to set trend on par with leading institutions. This is our first ever magazine named 'Pharma ACE' (meaning, 'Excellence in Pharmacy' also in accordance with P-[harama] ACE). With our limited number of students in its first batch and limited number of staff members, we have a put-up excellent work. I would like to congratulate all our staff members for their active participation in all our activities. I would like to specially thank the editorial committee of PACP for bringing out such a colourful magazine with such limited resource. I would like to congratulate all our students for their enthusiastic participation.

I wish them all the very best.

Prof. (Dr.) Saleemulla Khan
Principal

In this world of E-mails, E-tickets, E-paper,

Never forget one (God) who makes Everything Easy for Everyone
Every day. E is the most Eminent letter of the English alphabet. mEn housE or homE can't be made without E brEad or buttEr can't be found without E

E is the beginning of Existence and the end of trouble.
It's not at all in war, but twice in pEacE. It's once in hEll but twice in E also represents Efforts and Energy. flEncE to be better from good, both E added. Without E we would

DAY

Thanvera Jabin

The dews of the morning
made the flowers bloom
The sun in it's rising got me out from room
father bird went for prey
the children began to cry
Mother bird said her prayer
I watched the beautiful sight
The sun moved on to my head
Casting shadow at some spot
Sweat dripped from head
Made me think the sun's hot
Red blood is the setting sun
And gentle wind in pair
Made the father run back
From the window I stare
Moon said goodbye to the sun
I welcomed the moon
Thanking all my day fun
I went back to bed soon.....

THAT DAY IS NOT SO FAR

They structure my soul
And freshens my farm
Always alerts me that
My journey is tough and hard.
They ensures me that I can't
That strengthens me the most
And I pamper it again and again
In each breathe of my life.
They dissolve in my blood
Cannot be separated ever
As like the chubby sweetie twins
We will be together forever.
They motives me in my hardships
And cherishes me inmy success
Still, always alerts me that
My journey is tough and hard.
'Wake up, wake up', fast
You are so back and weak
Come on my darling, go on.
Alarms in my ears always.
They are reflected in my thoughts
And are expressed in my quotes.
I always believe more and more
That my goal is near and near.

- Mizbah Ibrahim

It is just a bit away
Still I can't reach there,
But I can hear someone saying,
'You can, you can, go on'.
It awakens me always
And clears my path so on
So, my heart believes ever
That day is not so far.
Dream, dream and dream
It will always be there with you
Just like your shadow moving
It will always motivate you
As like your sweetie pretty mom.

REFLECTIONS

Swathi

There's a girl
Who finds, herself lonely
While she is seated amidst a crowd
Perhaps she didn't know
What a crowd meant!
There's a girl
Who tries to keep herself?
Awaken in her dreams
though she never sleeps,
to see someone.....
There's a girl who hesitates to speak,

who is unaware of what or where she is Irrespective of time or place
There's a girl
Who reveals her true nature
Behind a locked door
And that's where
She finds herself –
She can be you ,
She can be me,
Because that's how girls are.....

IT WAS STILL RAINING

She was the light of that house spreading happiness not only in the family but all through the village. She flew through the village as a little angel. She always loved rain as if the rain was her best friend. Even though the parents were finding difficult and suffering a lot to make both ends meet, somehow, they managed to send her to the school. As she grew up it was time for her to go for her higher studies. It was a far away places where it was extremely new to her. In a short time, she became very close to her friends and teachers. Even though she got adjusted to her new environment easily, she was a bit sad as she was away from her parents for the first time. Days passed, months passed, she was brilliant student who was liked by all in that college and was active in all fields. There were three people who really missed her at home. Her parents and her little brother. They awaited her return to their sweet home and it was on that hurried day, she had not yet reached the hostel and none of her friends knew where she had gone. All were trying to contact her through her mobile, but It was of no use. And when all were in search of their little angel, no one knew that she was being devoured by human vultures who never realized the value of life. The very next day the whole town was under a shock to hear the painful happenings that took place on that terrible rainy night. And when she was brought to her village covered with a piece of white cloth, the whole village was devoured in tears along with nature who showed its gratitude to their best friend with tears. And when all left her home after the funeral, there was only one who didn't go away from her and that was her best friend and it was still raining.

Nasheeha Farzana

Women are mothers and sisters. The earth is our mother. But where did the culture and moral of our nation go when she was brutalized? Everyone saw her as a piece of flesh to satisfy their own lust. Let us pray to God and join hands to fight against sexual immortality which is aggressively spreading in our country.

There is something so called as smile, that can inspire and reach more than a mile. You need not to buy it, you will receive it back if you give it. Smile can destroy the dark when its own bright glowing the light, which can vanish a dull within a spark to a glowing face and shining sight. Smile tends to conquer our heart, there is something special in it, which is similar to an art.

Smile and let the world smile,
Atleast once in a while,
It will never leave you behind,
Instead it will stay in your mind.

Aneesha

Smile is cheerful,
For even those who are far from beautiful,
It has its own different path,
Some to sweeten the souls and few to destroy the wrath.
Smile is sweeter than the melody of a night, and it is sure that it will never fail,
So do not forget to smile...

-Fathimath Shana. B

I am tired of keeping up with you, but still you don't care about me, do you??
All my life I have grown up watching you!
You are good, you are bad !! what is it with you??
You never ever come back once you are gone!!
You don't give a chance to correct the wrong!!
You make everyone wait anxiously
And arrive when you want to, judiciously!!
People remember you and cry on one hand,
But on the other, swear to have had their best moments on land!!
Merciless, most prestigious is what others describe you,
Though I have a personal tagline for you!
You are one thing that cares for no dime!!
Oh why are you so suborn, the unbendable TIME??

MY PACP

Journey.....

Leaving friends with whom I've lived my memories wasn't easy, being here was a greatest challenge I had to face after my 12th grade. I had to accept this as this was life and I had to move on. But just like any other human, thought of this would kill me and I really didn't want to land in PA. Joining here wasn't by choice, it was by chance. My father wanted me to study pharmacy and he insisted me to join here and here I was.

Initially, when I came here, I didn't like the people around, but I accept the fact I loved the campus, it was all beautiful. I was totally in love. The roads that lead to my college, the morning breeze, the greenery around, everything was designed perfect and I absolutely enjoyed the view. Gradually things changed. I started loving the people also, I found out all very good and kind hearted. The teachers were simply amazing and good to me and the principal is the coolest. The faculty members are more like a family here and friendly. My way to learning pharmacy would be way too good with all these people around me, supporting, caring, loving and what not? I realized, in life we need to learn how to move on, as there is so much out there we do not know. As I miss my college, I am sure I'm going to miss this place when I leave. And there's a small message I have from me, enjoy your days in PA no matter what brought you here but trust me you'll have the best memories to carry back.
